ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Grateful thanks to all who have furnished information, family record and documents to help re-assemble the Heber¹ Harris family both in background and many branches.

1 Rev. James⁵ Harris, a 1942 letter naming Heber¹ and family of Hiram" and Polly Blake Harris.

2 Dryden, MI Echo of 27 October 1905 reporting the 100th Birthday Party for Polly Blake Harris - Names and history.

3 Mrs. Raymond Harris Francis (Susie Patterson) in 1962 provided a manuscript of Heber¹ family by Albey² ca 1895.

4 Diary of Hiram² preserved by his granddaughter Mrs. Jesse Blow (Mae Harris) of Dryden.

5 Bible record of Hiram and Polly (Blake) Harris also preserved by Mae Harris Blow.

6 George⁴ L. Harris letter of 1961 providing historical notes re: George³ Washington Harris in Kansas.

7 Dryden historical booklets of 1895 by Mrs. Florence Cooley and provided by the late Irene Miller, Dryden.

8 Barbour Collection of Vital Records of Connecticut and Michigan records by the Burton Historical Section, Detroit.

A record of this kind seems never to be complete but it is probably wise to record that which is available leaving further research to a later generation and each family branch to extend their own record. Correspondence with writer encouraged. Clarence⁵ A. Harris Sept. 1974

THE HEBER HARRIS FAMILY

From Manchester, England about 1790 to Pomfret, Connecticut; Otsego County, New York; Honeoye, New York and Dryden, Michigan.

Chapter 1: Heber Harris born in Manchester, England

Heber Harris was born about 1770 at or near Manchester, England and died at the Harris Farm on the west bank of Lake Honeoye, Ontario County, New York 4 October, 1827. He was married to Polly (Molly) Phillips 8 December 1799 as recorded in the Harbour Collection of Vital Statistics (JH-114-116. No 195, Reel 35., Vol. 1, P. 67.) Polly died at the age of 68 on 9 July 1844 in Wayne County, Michigan as recorded on the Gravestone in the Tyler Road Cemetery, north of Belleville.

According to information passed through two different families the Harris clan had its origin on the Harris Isle off the west coast of Scotland in feudal times. Because of conflicts, wars and religious convictions they were scattered throughout England and Wales. One family sketch tells of them joining the "Anabaptist Movement" and were driven out of England. Another sketch states "they came from England to get away from Roman Catholic persecution. Life in England in the 1780s was difficult so the urge to go to America was great. This was the time several Harris brothers took to seek a better life in the new country. It is reported that two brothers of Heber came over before he did and that one brother came with him. Since no mention was made of the parents it might be assumed that the parents did not migrate to America with their sons.

Searching family sketches and census records we find three families who were later to be associated together by marriage: the HARRISES, the PHILLIPS, and the MUNGERS, all came from England so they are found in the 1790 and 1800 census in adjoining towns or townships in Windom County", Connecticut. This is in the northeast corner of Connecticut on the Middle Branch of the old Boston Post Road to New York. Searching for family records in this area one must remember that boundary lines of counties and townships were changing during the 1700s. The town of Pomfret was named in 1713 and was in New London County- until October 1719, then in Windom County- until May 1747 and finally in Plainfield County- in May 1752. Brooklyn was incorporated in May 1786 and taken from Pomfret and Canterbury Townships. It was here in Canterbury Township that we find Heber Harris listed in the 1800 census. He does not appear in the 1790 census.

On November 1, 1800 a warranty deed was issued to Heber from Benjamin Barzilla (Book 2 page 349) by which for a consideration of $6.50 from Heber Harris of Brooklyn do grant one certain tract of land lying in the Town of Brooklyn containing two acres bounded: — Beginning at a certain large stone on the north side of the highway that leads from Samuel Dains dwelling house to Brooklyn a few rods west of Stamans meadow- thence running north by Samuel Dains land — et cetera.

On January 19, 1804 Heber sold land when a deed was recorded (Book 2, page 484 Brooklyn Land records) "I, Heber Harris of the County of Windom, Town of Brooklyn, for the consideration of $145 - of Hosea Harris of the Town of Brooklyn do sell unto Hosea one half of the two lots lying in the Town of Brooklyn which are jointly and individually by Hosea and Heber." One of said lots beginning at the northwest corner of Benjamin Lewis's land to the highway near Sam Dains house, thence westerly bounding southerly on lands belonging to Samuel Dains and Nathan Williams to Ruben Harris's line, et cetera. From this document it is probable that Ruben, Hosea and Heber could have some family connection.

The history of Windom County, Connecticut Book 2, page 250 gives a list of HARRISES who were listed in the Brooklyn Township Poll Book of August 20, 1788 as Samuel, Ruben, Paul, Amos and Ebenezer. However, only Samuel, Ruben, Paul and Ebenezer were listed in the 1790 Census. Another interesting date in the Brooklyn Township records shows that Hosea married Eunice Pellet on January 8, 1792. With these pieces of information it is a fair assumption that Hosea and Heber might be the two brothers who came to America together and the date sometime in 1791. The other two brothers would seem to be Samuel and Ruben. Further research will be needed.

Heber and Polly (Mary Polena) had married December 8, 1799, so by the purchase of land for a home November 1, 1800 they were planning well for their first born. This was Hiram Harris who was born November 20, 1800. Family records show that Hiram was born at Pomfret which was the home of his Mother's parents, Barnard and Lovina (Munger) Phillips. Two more sons were born Windom County: David May 3, 1802 and Shubel September 13, 1803. The fact that Heber sold his land January 19, 1804 and that he no longer was listed in census records of Windom County indicates a move.

CHAPTER 2: Heber Harris Moves to New Lisbon, New York

To have moved in the winter of 1804 across Connecticut and New York, a distance of over 200 miles, with his wife and three little boys might seem questionable but it was probably necessary to be located at the new location before crop planting time. The trip was probably made with a yoke of oxen and sled. It is quite certain this is the way they traveled because he moved again in the winter and it was recorded this was the way they traveled.

The family resided in Otsego County, New Lisbon Township for the next ten years during which time six more children were added to the flock: Albey 1805, Heber 1807, Amy Ann 1808, Barnard 1810, Julia Ann 1811, and Sophia 1813. The 1810 census shows E. Harris with six boys and one girl all under ten which agrees with Heber's family at that date. It was noted that the census taker for New Lisbon Township recorded no first names, only the initial and could have mistaken the broad pronunciation of Heber by the English as Eber. The history of Otsego County also mentions Eber Harris among the first officers of the County as a Fence Viewer as recorded March 3, 1807. New Lisbon Township was about fifteen miles southwest of Cooperstown, the county seat of Otsego County.

There were no land records for Heber found in Otsego County, but twelve other Harris families are listed in the 1810 census. These were recorded as J. Harris, S. Harris, E. Harris, D, C, et cetera. The one listed as S. Harris could be Samuel, one of the possible brothers of Heber. Samuel is mentioned again when Heber and Polly move again from New Lisbon.

CHAPTER 3: Heber Moves to Honeoye, New York

In a series of 23 articles about "Canidice, N.Y. in the Early Days" as printed in the Ontario County Times, Canandaigua, New York of Wednesday 12 July 1870 Volume 21 number 28 page 1

(Author not recorded) Heber's move is featured as follows:

Story No. 17

"In the year 1814 there was a heavy migration. Early in the spring of this year Ebenezer Knapp settled on what is now the Harris Farm and his brother Samuel took the Wheatley Place both lying on the shore of The Honeoye (lake).

Heber Harris from Otsego Count)-, New York bought out Ebenezer in the winter following 1814 and Ebenezer died there soon after. When Harris came into town he came with a yoke of oxen and a sled with all of six little children. He died on the place and was succeeded by his son Alba who still resides there and who is the pioneer in the grape business in town."

The heavy migration westward in 1814 was aided by the completion in 1812 of the Mohawk Route thru Canandaigua to Lake Erie. This was known as the Great Western Turnpike. Presently US 20 follows the routes of these early roads. It would be interesting to know why Heber made this second winter trip of over 120 miles, but it might have been that he was seeking better land. He was a nurseryman in Manchester, England according to one family sketch, so at Lake Honeoye, one of the western New York Finger Lakes, he found the sheltered hillsides ideal for his grape business. Heber and Polly's farm home was located somewhere near the present address of 453 West Lake Road which was later the home of Albey (Alba) until 1896. It was beautifully restored by the present owners William & Eleanor Henner (1974).

CHAPTER 4: Children of Heber¹ and Polly (Molly) Harris

Hiram² was born 20 November 1800 at Pomfret (Brooklyn) Connecticut per vital records Volume 1 page 8 and Barbour Collection Micro Film Reel 35 No. 195. He was married 28 March 1824 at Naples, New York to Polly Blake at the home of her parents James_/7 and Levina (Fisher) Blake Jr. He died 6 September 1873 at Dryden, Michigan. Interred in the Harris Farm Plot. Hiram moved with his parents to New Lisbon Township Otsego County, New York in 1804 and in 1814-15 on to Richmond Township Lake Honeoye. His diary of 1823 to 25 gives us a very good story of his life at that time.

March 24, 1823: Paid one shilling for four quarts of oats but getting seven apples in the bargain which made me a very good dinner. After this was accomplished I mounted my horse and rode away. April, first I transplanted sixty currant bushes in the morning. Monday, the 14th we started for the Erie Canal and arrived at Warner's Tavern in Lima about noon and came on past Webster's Tavern and Mills about three o'clock and to Stoddard's Tavern at night where we put up but took little sleep there was so much noise and singing but we arose early and came through Rochester about sunrise. This being Tuesday, the 15th I hired out to Mr. I. Parwell for 11 dollars a month and continued work until Saturday about noon when I went to a log-raising where I spent the remainder of the day. May 5th the weather was cold and there were frequent flurries of snow so my work was clearing stumps from a meadow, but on the 13th I attended a quilting at Clark's Inn on pay as one of the Musicians playing the Flageolet which, in appearance is slightly amusing. June 6th I plowed about two acres with a yoke of oxen. This 3rd of July I must remember Miss Maryann Worden for making a vest and pantaloons, which is ten shillings.

August 29th and the following days I visited three of my brothers and borrowed two dollars of Shubael and five of Albey for the purpose of going to the Academy which performed on the 8th of September (Possibly Franklyn Academy advertised in Ontario Times 8 May 1826). Commenced my studies of grammar and arithmetic and on the 27th returned home from Bloomfield. From the 20th of October I have been employed in visiting strangers for the purpose of commencing a school; which I did the first of December for ten dollars in the town of Naples. Went to the village on the tenth and got my certificate. I finished with ten scholars on the first day of January 1824 I was at my school and on the 4th at evening visited Miss P. B. (Polly Blake, one of his scholars) and on the 6th attended a dance with her at Mr. Warrens. March 1st 1824 residing at Mr. Pecks and teaching my school with but few scholars, but very lively ones. On Saturday evening I visited at Mr. Browns where I had the joy of playing my flute. Sunday, March 14th finished my school bill and in the evening engaged a sleigh ride with Mr. Stokes for one dollar with the company of Mr. Fuller, Elvira and Polly Blake. On Sunday March 28th 1824 I was married to Miss Polly Blake by Mr. Luther, Esquire, at Mr. and Mrs. Blake's about two o'clock in the afternoon.

On Wednesday April 14th I attended the wedding at Father Blake's where Mr. F. M. Fuller and Elvira Blake were married by Mr. Luther, Esquire, in the town of Naples, County of Ontario, State of New York. From the 28th of April until now, June 22nd I have taken no account - Mrs. P. Harris has gone to her father's for a visit. She was quite unwell. She continued unwell and Monday I went and got Dr. Baley, who relieved some of her pain by bleeding, he came again on Tuesday. On the 4th of July 1824 Polly and I reside at our own house enjoying better health."

"Friday, October 1st 1824 for the circumstances of these times I moved from Bath up to Naples. Arrived, with my goods on Saturday with very good luck and for the next employment I built a log house in side town and moved into it on December 2nd. In the past season many circumstances have happened and almost forgotten - my making a profession of faith in Christ under the closed communion Baptist Order. I and my wife going to the Covenant on Saturday November 13th and our both being baptized on Sunday, the 14th by Elder Lamb. On December 29th my work was falling two pine trees for shingles with my Father-in-Law, sawing on Thursday and Friday and on January 1st 1825. January 15th I went to town to get my certificate which was granted and continued my school in which time I have boarded at Mr. Wansoes. February 21st began boarding to Mr. Lathrops and went to Mr. Fishers on Thursday to talk a little about bad conduct. I censured some, praised some, advised some and told them they were all good scholars. A little about the weather as it is being very pleasant and bare ground all winter. Saturday March 12 visited Mr. Standcliffs school where there is about 10 or 11 scholars. Sunday 27th at eve heard Mr. Briggs preach a sermon from songs at Mr. Pecks house that was nourishing to the soul. Signed March 30 1825 sig-Hiram Harris. Other pages of the diary contain poems and hymns, one poem named The Indian Hymn of four verses and another Wonders on the Mountain with nine verses, the latter written July 4 1827.

Further research may show where Hiram built his log cabin, in Naples but a grandson, George⁴ Harris remembered that his Grandmother Polly told him of living on the banks of the Honeoye Lake and washing her clothes in the lake and in the winter Hiram skated on the lake on skates made with wood frames to hold the blade.

Ontario County Land Records show that Hiram' bought a parcel of land per Book 53-125: "Barnard Harris of the town of Belfast, County of Allegheny N.Y. and Clarissa his wife for $50 paid by Hiram Harris of the town of Canadice, Property situate a part of Lot #53 being his second share, beginning on the west shore of Lake Honeoye at a certain stake standing at the SE corner of share #1 belonging to Hiram Means and South 16 rods containing 11 1/2 A along shore of Lake. This seems to have been a part of the Shubael 1/2 Harris land that was distributed to his brothers and sisters after his death in 1828. This along with other land was sold 11 October 1834 per book 56-341; - Hiram Harris and Polly his wife of Richmond County for $240 sold to Moses Ross property situate in Town of Canadice a part of Lot 53 in Phillips and Gorham Purchase-East on West Shore of Honeoye Lake, north by lands owned by S. T. Stewart. West by the west line of Honeoye Lake, north by lands owned by S. T. Stewart, West by the west line of said Lot 53 and south by lands owned by Albey Harris and containing 26 A abd 16 Rods inclusive of all highways. Signature: Hiram Harris, Polly T. Harris, signed in the presence of Phillip Short.

Hiram's father had died in 1827 and Albey, the fourth son was accumulating the various parcels of land from the Shubael Estate as well as his father's land so in 1835 we find Hiram and Polly with their five little children moving to Michigan. Since he had worked on the Erie Canal so they probably went up to Rochester to join with other emigrants for the trip west by boat. Their first stop in Michigan was at Utica about ten miles west of Anchor Bay. In 1837 they settled on a farm which they homesteaded, SW of Dryden in Lapeer County about 30 miles north of Utica. The original Certificate of the U. S. Land Office shows that Hiram Harris registered for 80 A. of the Public Lands, the S 1/2 of the SW 1/4 of Section 15 T-6-N, R-II-E in the Sagana District, Certificate No 1060, Washington D.C. September 5, 1838. Signature Martin Van Buren, Pres. George⁴ Harris, grandson of Hiram, remembered that the family had talked about "Grandfather paid $1.25 an acre and had to walk from Dryden to Lapeer about fifteen miles to make the purchase." He was a man of small stature weighing about 120 pounds. This farm stayed in the Harris family until late in the 1950s and the old family burial plot there is still maintained by the family.

When Hiram and Polly moved to Michigan they were real pioneers as told by Polly and recorded about 1895 by Mrs. J. S. Kendrick in "Pioneer Sketches" for the local paper: The Echo.

She said "I wonder what our young folks would think to move into a little one room shanty about sixteen foot square with a family of seven and without a floor. We built our fires on the ground and left a hole in the roof above it for the smoke to escape. Some mornings after a rain Mr. Harris went half a mile to a neighbors to get some fire. We had no windows, only boards to put up at night and take down the next day. For cooking I had only a few stones and did most of my cooking outdoors. I had only a frying pan, which I still have. Yes there used to be wolves. They would come around the house and howl and I used to like to hear them but when I got tired of the noise I would burn a little sulphur at the door and they would scatter. I remember one night the boys wanted some turnips to scrape so we lighted a candle and ventured after some. I suppose the wolves smelled the tallow burning for it beat all how they howled around the house that night. For a team we had one ox. We cleared and did our work with him. When my husband died he owned 600 acres of land and nice buildings." Said Mrs. Harris.

It should be remembered that the winter of 1836-37 was one of the most severe with two feet of snow and sleet which produced a sheet of ice and allowed deer to be caught in large numbers for their meat supply. There was also an Indian scare in March of 1837, which added to the problems of these early pioneers in Michigan.

Hiram²—Heber¹

ix George Washington⁻³ Harris b-11 July 1845 at Dryden, Michigan. Died 12
September 1930 at Horton Kansas and buried there. M¹ 28 January 1865 Sarah Elizabeth Brown, daughter of Elliott Brown at Dryden. She was born 22 October

Washington³ as he was called by the family, and his younger brother Heber had married sisters.

The two brothers were good mechanics and had a blacksmith and carpenter shop making king wagons, sleighs, and cutters. They also did work for the undertaker, Mr. Levy Sessions, making caskets. Sarah Elizabeth died 22 August 1872 and shortly after, Washington with his son Herbert⁴ of six years along with Heber and his wife moved to Kansas settling at Effingham where they built a shop as they had in Michigan. After their father Hiram died 6 September 1873 Heber moved back to Michigan to take over the Harris farm. Washington married again in 1874 to Sarah Francis Cahoon, daughter of Barney Cahoon of Effingham, and together they helped put their new town on the map. It wasn't long until he had the blacksmith and carpenter shop, a feed mill, hotel and post office and was postmaster for twelve years. He again built caskets and was Effingham's first undertaker, interring the first body in the Evergreen Cemetery which he helped to plot. The railroad being built in Brown County 15 miles north, in 1886 as the C.K. & N Ry needed a new town for their repair shops. The first lots were sold 20 September 1886 and it was named Horton, after Judge

Albert H. Horton, Chief Justice of the Kansas Supreme Court. Washington moved there in 1887 to help build as a carpenter, then as a cabinet maker in the new Rock Island Shops. About 1891 he quit the shops and built a hotel one block from the new depot and closed the shops. The Harris House did a thriving business and was popular with both railroad crews and shop men because of the good dining room managed by Sarah Francis. Washington was active in all civic activities, was a delegate to the Brown County Republican convention in Hiawatha 29 September 1890. April 3, 1894 he was elected Councilman in the 3rd Ward with 22 votes. They lived on the Hotel property for the remainder of their lives. He died in 1930 and she died 14 July 1939. One Child of George Washington¹ and Sarah Elizabeth Harris:

1. Samuel Herbert⁴ Harris b- 10 October 1866 at Dryden, Michigan d- 11 November 1917 at Horton, Kansas, was buried at Effingham, Kansas, m- 16 September 1891 to Arvilla Florence Hawk, daughter of Andrew and Levina (Landers) Hawk, Effingham.

Herbert moved from Michigan to Kansas when he was six years of age with his father and just after his mother had died. He grew up in his father's shops and business at Effingham becoming a carpenter and craftsman. He also helped run the feed mill. A cousin of his, George Leonard Harris and nine years younger wrote later of his life in Effingham. "Sometimes I would feed the corn celler or clean the floor because I enjoyed being with Herbie. He kept his coronet in the desk of the shop and whenever he had a little time he would practice his band music." Herbert took care of his father's shops at Effingham when the rest of the family moved to Horton in 1887. Soon after that he too joined the family in the new town where he was a carpenter in the Rock Island Shops, becoming a very fine cabinet maker and lathe man. He continued with his coronet and helped organize the first band in Horton which later took part in William McKinley's campaign for the Presidency in 1896 including a trip to McKinley's home town of Canton, Ohio.

About 1900 Herbert and Arvilla with their two small children moved to Bloomington, Illinois to work in the Burlington Shops (CB & Q Ry). After a year he was called back to the Rock Island at Chicago where the family lived until 1905. He was then transferred back to the Shops at Horton and made foreman of all the Coach and Cabinet Shops employing forty to fifty men. For many years he continued in this work and became active in civic affairs where he was on the School Board and was a Trustee in the Presbyterian Church. About 1911 ill health forced him to give up work at the Shops, and for two years was Bookkeeper and Estimator at the Horton Lumber Company. He was 51 when he died in 1917 of blood poisoning caused by an early injury in the Shops. Two Children of Herbert⁴ and Arvilla:

- a Roberta Elizabeth, b- 13 April 1896, Horton, Kansas d- 28 December 1964 at Santa Barbara, California m-15 May 1928 at Denver, Colorado to William R. Albright. Later divorced.

Roberta was a popular teacher in the schools of Horton and later after attending the University of Kansas a short time taught school at Provo, Utah. Her interest in music took her to Denver where she became head of the record department of a large music store. She continued in that work after raising her daughter and later followed the daughter and her family to Santa Barbara, California where she again was the head of the record department of a large music store.

xi Heber³ b-16 April 1849 Dryden, Michigan d- 15 February 1925 Dryden Farm
m-28 June 1871 to Lucy M. Brown, a sister of George's wife Sarah, daughters of Elliott Brown

Heber grew up on the farm at Dryden and became a good mechanic and blacksmith. Together with his older brother George Washington Harris he ran a machine and cabinet shop in Dryden. Heber and George moved to Kansas in 1872 and built a similar shop at the new town of Effingham. When their father died in 1873 Heber moved back to Dryden to take over the farm but money was scarce and letters from Kansas told of more work than brother George¹ could take care of. So a second move was made back to Kansas this time taking their mother, Polly and three sons: George⁴ ten years old; James seven years old; and Fred four years old. This was in 1885. In six weeks they had built a new home and all went well until the next year when James Fowler who had rented the farm in Michigan left the farm so Heber moved back again to Michigan and continued on the home place until his death.

There is no record of Shubael having married. In his older brother Hiram's diary 29 Aug 1823 Shubael loaned Hiram $2 to help him go to the Academy. It appears that Shubael accumulated some acreage next to his father's farm. In the Court Records was found the following: (17 Dec 1829 to James Willson, Surrogate of Ontario County N.Y. the petition of Hiram Harris of Richmond "That your petitioner is the brother of Shubael Harris, late of Richmond, aforesaid deceased who died on 27 Sept 1828 without leaving any last Will and testament to the knowledge and belief of your petitioner and that all the goods, chattels etc of the deceased do not exceed the sum of one hundred and fifty dollars. Signed Hiram Harris Shubael's land was distributed between his brothers and sisters.

- 4- Albey² Harris b- 7 Nov 1805 New Lisbon, Otsego Co. N.Y. d- 15 Dec 1896 farm home Lake Honeoye, Ontario Co. N.Y.
m- Esther G. she died 6 Mar 1875 Age 55

Albey moved from New Lisbon to Honeoye in 1814 along with his three older brothers and their parents. He appears to have been an industrious young man. In his older brother's diary of 29 Aug 1823 mention is made that Hiram borrowed $5 for the purpose of going to the Academy. Later Albey received $3.50 from Hiram for money borrowed. Later, after his father had died Albey appears to have taken over the responsibility of the farm and in 1833 started to buy from his brothers and sisters their portions of their brother Shubael's estate parts of Lot 53.

From Heber and Belinda Harris he bought 10 3/4 Acres for $40 (Subdivision #4) A plot from David and wife Betsy 9 A for $25 Subdivision #6; A plot from Abigail and husband James Kelly ; from Julia Ann and husband Peter Redmond plot #7 for $30. On 13 Feb 1837 he got plot #9 from Mary Ann paying $100. Mention is also made in Story #17 in the Ontario County Times of 1870 that "Albey succeeded his father on the place and still resides there and was the pioneer in the grape business in town".

Abigail Phillips	b- 19 Dec 1778
Daniel ³ Phillips	b- 26 July 1783

This record of the family of Barnard shown the name of Molly. The Harris family sketch written by Albey Harris about 1895 refers to his mother as Mary Polena and called Polly. It is believed there is no conflict here because many families use various pet names for daughters. Her birthdate here agrees exactly with her gravestone record in the Tyler Road Cemetery, Wayne Count}', Michigan Lot no. 34.

Polly Phillips married Heber Harris 8 Dec 1799 at Pomfret Conn. (Barbour microfilms JH-114-116'No. 195, Reel 35, Vol. 1, page 67).

MILLER:

William Miller was born Aug 14, 1763 Portland, England and died Mar 25, 1859 at Bruce, Macomb County, Michigan. He married Aug 20, 1786 to Margaret Brundage who was born Dec 29, 1770 of Nova Scotia. She died June 1, 1851. Buried at Bruce, Michigan in the Sand Hill Cemetery.

This story about William is from one of the Dryden, Michigan record books compiled by Florence Cooley Miller.

When William Miller was fourteen years old he was on a British Man-of-War ship and was HMS Service during the Revolutionary War and was at the Surrender of Cornwallis. He crossed the ocean nine times and on one or more of these trips was on a British Ship commanded by his step-father, Captain Waters. After his discharge from the Navy he was licensed to Exhort in the M.E. Church. About 1782 he settled in Nova Scotia where he kept a China Store. Here he married Margaret Brundage, an orphan who was born in Nova Scotia Dec 29, 1770. After their marriage they moved to Hunter Green County, New York where he was engaged in the business of a Tanner on the Hudson River. Here they reared a family of 12 children. In 1833 they left Hunter Green and came to Michigan taking up Government land in Bruce, Macomb County. He secured 120 acres in Sec. 4 where he built a house and made his home. In 1837 he sold this farm to his son John C. Miller and he and his wife lived with this son until their death.

- a. Sarah Elizabeth⁴ Brown was born Oct 22, 1845 at Dryden. She died Aug 22, 1872 and was buried in the Harris Farm Plot. On Jan. 25, 1865 she married Geo. Washington³ Harris at Dryden. See Harris Pg 19 Elizabeth and Washington had one son born Oct. 10, 1866 named after her young brother who had died two years earlier - Samuel Herbert Harris. See Harris Pg 20
- b. Abigail A. Brown b- Jan 23, 1848 See Brown History Pg 39
- c. Lucy Maria Brown b- ca 1850. She married Heber³ Harris See Harris History Pg 25

BLOOMER:

In the history of Green County N.Y. (p 331-34) is recorded some of the Daniel Bloomer history.

Daniel Bloomer was born Oct. 1, 1775 at Hunter and died Oct. 20, 1857. He married Joanna Haines (Haynes) born Apr 25, 1776 died Apr 11, 1849. She was the daughter of Samuel Haines and Sarah Townsend.

Daniel Bloomer with other people of Hunter Green Co. N.Y. had lived for many years on their land unmolested, confident that the land was theirs, but in 1810 two Frenchmen came from some lower county claiming they owned at least portions of the Great Lot No. 23 under the "Philipse Patent" and claimed their property. These lands were afterward rented out as life and tenant leases at one shilling an acre.

Among the Justices of the Peace of Hunter County is the name of Daniel "Old Squire Bloomer" "and so originally legal was his mind and so strong his judgements that he never had but one case decided against him by a higher court and but few appeals were taken from his decisions". He was Justice of the Peace from 1813 to 1825. In 1830 Daniel and family moved to Eastman, Putnam County Ohio. Nine children of Daniel and Joanna (Haynes) Bloomer:

1. William S.	b-May 2, 1794	d- Nov 8, 1861
2. Elizabeth	b- Apr 9, 1797	d- Sept 28 1884	m- James Miller (see p 41)
3. Abigail	b-Sept 29, 1799	d- Jan 9, 1883
4. Samuel	b-Feb 7, 1804	d-Sept 22, 1864
5. Abraham	b- Aug 16, 1806	c-April 13, 1889
6. Esther	b-Dec 10, 1808	d- Jan 5, 1856
7. Julie	b-Feb 17, 1811	d-	m- Jacob Miller
8. Hannah	b-May 15, 1814	d- Dec 13, 1834	m- Jeremiah Miller
9. Robert	b-Jan 9, 1817	d- Sept 15, 1825

Elizabeth Bloomer (2) married James Miller - Pg 41. Their daughter Lucy married Elliot Brown - Pg 41 and two of their daughters married into the Harris family. Sarah Elizabeth married G. Washington³ Harris (see Page 19) and Lucy Maria Brown married Heber³ Harris (see Pg25).

It is believed that Daniel was the son of Captain Robert Bloomer who commanded in 1775 a company of the Westchester Militia. His parentage goes back to Robert Bloomer mentioned in Connecticut in 1664 in the History of Rye, Westchester County. Further research needed.
